

polip Festival:

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: WHAT ABOUT THE ECOLOGY QUESTION?

14-16 May, Prishtina

Theater performance: JUDIT SEEKS

 Location: National Theatre of Kosovo

 Date: Thursday, 14 May

 Time: 20:00 – 22:00

 For tickets, please write to info@qendra.org or send a message to +383 44 430 693.

Language: Dutch with English and Albanian translation

Play description:

Judit lives with an overpowering urge to please, even if it means losing herself in the process. At the same time, she obsessively pursues self-improvement and passionately fights for the planet. When she has turned her whole life upside down, she is suddenly confronted with what she has been sacrificing all this time

In a search for something to hold on to, Judit delves into ancient Bible stories and Instagram memes. Isn't she herself part of this nature she says she is fighting for? Is humanity truly the villain in the bigger picture? Or is it all part of a sinister master plan by the fossils - the source of all fuel and plastic - poisoning the world?

Femke Van der Steen's new text is a polyphonic narrative: bold yet imaginative, offering a provocative perspective on the relationship between humans and nature.

“To live, things must die.”

Written by Femke Van der Steen / Direction: Christophe Aussems / Cast: Sara Vertongen, Mona Mina Leon, Matthias Van de Brul & Chloë Onyinye / Music: Sam Gysel / Costumes: Joëlle Meerbergen / Assistant Costumes: Veronika Shvet / Scenography: Chloé Wasselin Dandre / Assistant Scenography: Ine Roeder / Lighting Design: Kim Rens / Technical Support: Bregt Janssens, Stefan De Reese, Tom Buys, Jari Abeloos & Wout Vatteroth / Production Leader: Ellen Haesevoets / Dramaturgy: Els Theunis / Artistic Feedback: Stijn Devillé & Adriaan Van Aken

polip
FESTIVAL

14 May, 20:00

JUDIT SEEKS

Produced by:
HET NIEUWSTEDELIJK

Venue:
National Theatre of Kosova

FUTURE NARRATIVES
for Planet Earth

gondro
multimedia